PRIDDY GREEN SINK - SWILDON'S CONNECTION

Section based on WCC survey, Swildon's 1995 and WCC Journal, June 1996 (© WCC)

As previously predicted in MCG Newsletter 253 the Priddy Green Sink - Swildon's connection has now been made. On June 5th the breakthrough was made by the BEC diggers with Priddy Green connecting to the Top Aven of Cowsh Aven, Swildon's Four. The first MCG through trip was undertaken on June 23rd and proved to be an excellent trip. The trip is quite a thrutchy bit of caving, particularly between the "Blasted Bastard" and "Top Aven". We had not previously been through this section as we had been digging in the tight passage at the end of "Virgins". The Cowsh Aven pitches are currently rigged with the diggers' ropes but these will soon be removed and DMMs put in place. If you are contemplating the through trip, remember to rig the 20 in Swildon's first and pray that nobody steals your ladder!

RESIGNATION Following his move to Essex, Steve Marshall is devoting his spare time to restoring his yacht and so cannot manage to get to Mendip more than once or twice a year. Steve (being quite hefty!)

1996 EXPEDITION As reported in Newsletter no.
254, the trip to Italy was cancelled. Just as well really, as the next week the area was hit by a freak snowfall and then heavy rain. The access road to Piaggia Bella has probably suffered some damage as a result!
However, the MCG are still going abroad. A party of six (J Hesketh, T Francis, J Frampton, J Goddard, Y and M Rowe) will be heading for Cueva del Agua in the Picos de Europa, Northern Spain on 26th July.

NOTICE OF EGM AND FORUM

The "informal" Half-yearly Forum on Saturday 12th October will now include a "formal" EGM to discuss proposals to restructure the committee. A group of members have submitted one possible proposal for a new committee structure. This lists the committee posts as Secretary, Treasurer, Editor, Cottage Warden, Tacklemaster, Caving Secretary, Librarian, and Conservation & Access Officer. It also attempts to more clearly define the role of each committee member, and to spread the workload of committee members more equally. This suggestion has been discussed by the committee but a concensus could not be reached. Each committee member has therefore been asked to identify their own "core tasks" as well as their other areas of responsibility. This will then be drawn together into a document describing the roles of the current committee members. A further discussion will take place at the committee meeting on 7th September, after which any proposals will be circulated to the membership prior to the meeting on 12th October.

HALF-YEARLY SOCIAL FUNCTION

Lots of discussion has taken place over the past few years as to the type of social functions we should arrange. We have tried barn dances, a disco, a live band. We have asked members to prepare buffet food, tried a pig roast, and let one member organise all the catering. We have run our own bar, and asked Roger Dors to provide the bar. We have tried Priddy hall and Chewton Mendip hall. Whatever combination we have tried, the number attending has been about the same - between 50 and 60. All the events have been appreciated by those who attended. Some have made a small surplus, one made a significant loss. Having tried them all the lesson seems to be that the price has to be kept below £5.00 and we should only expect about 60 people to attend. For the half-yearly this year, we have decided to keep the ticket price as low as possible as this seems to be the overriding factor. The cost of hiring Priddy hall and obtaining a drinks license is £50-£75, or £1 per head. This leaves £3 per head for food and £1 per head for music. To do this we will need volunteers to prepare simple food, volunteers to serve behind the bar and volunteers to help clear up the next day. To encourage drinking, we will provide cheap transport from and to the cottage. To cover the loss we will make on the coach, there will be a raffle (would anyone like to help by donating suitable prizes?) £50 for music won't hire a Blues band or a disco, so we are hoping that the Velvet Bottom band will oblige us this year which means that we will be having the.....

STONE-WALLING

Nordrach Cottage lies in an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, but our land is something of an eyesore at present. As well as the spoil produced by building the library extension and associated soakaway, the land is prone to water-logging around the front and side doors. Carparking is also unsightly as we do not make the best use of our land, and we have also lost some carparking spaces due to the extension. Most of our land is enclosed by chain-link fencing or drystone wall, some of which needs to be reconstructed. Some of our land is not enclosed (ie. the hardstanding near the gate to Mr Brown's field). It is our intention to remedy all these problems when the library extension is completed.

At the moment, there is a low point at the side door by the hosing-down area. We need to reverse the gradient of the land so that water drains away from the hosing-down area, towards the gate, then around in front of the cottage and onto the grassed area beyond the library extension. This will involve removing a quantity of material from the carpark. At the same time we will need to construct a barrier (or gully) to prevent surface water draining off the road through the gateway. The land at the lounge side of the cottage has been disturbed by vehicles being driven over it and is no longer the grassy, flat camping area that it once was. This will be made smooth again for camping and recreation, and a barrier will be made to keep vehicles off.

What has all this got to do with stone-walling? It just so happens that Wayne Hiscox has a large amount of limestone that he needs to get rid of! We need to hire a truck to dispose of the excess material from building the extension, excavating the new soakaway and regrading the carpark. The idea is to use the truck to take this material to a landfill site and on the return journey transport the limestone from Wayne.

Now for the really clever part! There should be enough limestone to build a new drystone wall along the boundary with Mr Brown's field and possibly along the boundary with the Stirrup Cup. The British Trust for Conservation Volunteers (BTCV) are known to run training courses on Mendip in drystone walling. We intend to approach them with a view to running a training course at Nordrach Cottage. We provide the materials and accommodation, they would provide the volunteers and MCG members can also help.

At the same time, we propose to enclose the hardstanding outside the existing drystone wall so that all carparking is within the boundary, improving security. We have approached our neighbours, Mr Brown and Mary Cox & Ken Fry so that they know what we intend to do. We will also be advising the local council as the wall forms the boundary with the public highway.

ELECTRIC SHOCK!

Our mains electric arrives at Nordrach Cottage by means of a wayleave over one of our neighbours' land. We have been advised that this wayleave agreement may be terminated as the landowner is concerned about the safety of the buried cable. The passage of innumerable vehicles over the land may have resulted in lowering of the land, effectively bringing the cable closer to the surface. If the wayleave is terminated, we will be advised by SWEB. It is our understanding that SWEB have a duty to maintain an electric supply to the cottage, and that they will therefore have to re-route the cable, probably via the public highway rather than across private land. Should this be necessary, we will take the opportunity to ask SWEB to upgrade the supply so that we may use more electric appliances at the cottage. This may mean that in future you will not be able to use the toaster as a dimmer switch!

MCG digs update...

...taken from the MCG logbook:-

PINETREE POT

1.6.96 Tim Francis, Julie Hesketh, Joe Frampton - Twenty four buckets of progress made. Passage going down, wide and deep. Still a smidgeon of airspace. Tim

30.6.96 Tim Francis, Julie Hesketh - Back down for another 16 bucketfulls. Things are getting roomier at the dig face and will get even bigger once we have dug the floor out. Easy digging through gloopy clay. Roof has started to dip steeply downwards. Poor air. Julie

BATTERY SWALLET

22.6.96 Julie Hesketh, Letti Patte, Tim Francis, Dave Tooke, Mike Gould, Joe Frampton - Nice sunny day to blitz the dig. After removing copious amounts of slop the previous point of exploration was reached. A sizable draught (for Mendip) was felt exiting the dig face which spurred us to bash and scrape away about 4ft enabling us to see the roof dipping for a further 5-6ft. We will be back. Anon

23.6.96 Letti Patte, Dave Tooke - Three and a half hours digging - half a dozen skips removed. Ceiling peeled off. Strong draught - passage seems to become larger in about an arms length. Dave

29.6.96 Nick Gilson, Julie Hesketh, Tim Francis - Ho hum, a few more buckets removed. Still draughting well but things look a bit long term. The passage has shrunk to a small tube trending off to the right. There are some pretty solid layers within the muddy stuff. Tim

6.7.96 Joe Frampton, Tim Francis - Got one poxy bucket out before we decided Tim needs a bang license. Still draughting. Joe

There is a new potential dig in a depression that Mr Brown, the landowner, told us about. It has recently had a small collapse in the bottom.

AWAY MEETS REPORT - OGOF CRAIG-A-FFYNNON -14.7.96....

.... At last! After three previous attempts we finally got down the illusive Ogof Craig-a-Ffynnon.

1st attempt: Turned up on wrong day.
2nd attempt: Keyholder crashes in snow.
3rd attempt: Cancelled due to illness.
4th attempt: Made it!

Team: Arthur Spain, Joan Goddard, Yvonne and Martin Rowe.

Jeff Hill met us at the lime kilns with the key but was unable to get us a leader. Fortunately Joan had copied and encapsulated the route (not that route-finding is a problem as you basically follow the tapes and obvious well-worn paths). We changed into our caving gear in the gloom and drizzle then went off to the cave entrance to solve the 'Krypton puzzle', ie. opening the extremely complicated lock! Arthur eventually worked it out then we were in and on our way.

This is another lovely Welsh cave full of interesting things and those that stand out most in my mind are the huge chambers; an unfixed 'fixed' ladder followed by a rope and chain climb up an awkward 12m aven (Martin rigged a ladder for us girlies); a lengthy thrutch through a boulder choke described as 'arduous and uncomfortable' (but actually not much worse than Waterwheel); some interesting mud formations (as well as some really glutinous welly-tugging stuff); many clusters of straws - one with a straw at least 6ft long; a huge variety of weird and wonderful stalagmites and stalactites, flowstone, columns, curtains, etc.; but the best for me were the gypsum crystal formations.

We had made our way to what was going to be our turn around point, The Hall of the Mountain King, which was an absolutely enormous 28m high, very long chamber, full of calcite surprises including the 'king' himself. We had made good time so we decided to carry on for a bit but Joan and I nearly regretted it for we got dirty, tired and bruised crawling flat out along tight, long tunnels and boulder ruckles. One bit of very pleasant relief came with the amazing Severn Tunnel - a long phreatic canyon - but then more crawling. Just as Joan and I were about to give up and turn back we came across the gypsum crystals. The first we saw was feathery, frost-like patterns of gypsum covering the rock, then clusters of crystals growing in patches, and others pushing little flakes of rock out at odd angles. The best were those growing around the rim of some gour pools like lace decorations. One had a beautiful gypsum 'lily' seemingly floating in the centre with 'buds' of gypsum lying around it in the bottom of the gour.

The trip took 5 hours, excluding the time taken to unlock then relock the cave door (which must have taken over half an hour in all!) We emerged to unexpected bright, hot sunshine and a beautiful view over the valley to the green hills beyond.
